By metro

The metro which serves the university site is the line 1 in the direction of Stockel. Get off at the station Alma. Follow the signs "Auditoires" and/or "Faculté". It is a 2 min walk from the metro station to the conference rooms

By train

Arrival by TGV and other international trains coming from Paris/London:

From Brussels-Midi station, take the metro:

-line 2 or 6 towards Simonis (Elisabeth)

-change at the Arts-Loi station and take line 1 towards Stockel

-get off at the Alma station which is right next to the university site

Arrival by other international trains (Amsterdam, ...) and Airport Express train coming from Brussels National Airport:

-get off at Brussels-Central station take the underground (metro) line 1, towards Stockel

-get off at the Alma station which is right next to the university site

By plane

From Brussels National airport (Zaventem), you can get to the UCL-Brussels site by taxi (approximately 25€, 10 to 30 min.) or by taking the Airport Express train to Brussels-Central Station, from where you can take the underground line 1 in the direction of Stockel and get off at the station called ALMA. Follow the signs "Auditoires" and/or "Faculté". It is a 2 min walk from the metro station to the conference rooms.

Brussels South Charleroi airport is served by low-cost flight companies. It lies 55 km from the UCL-Brussels site. Airport shuttle services link the airport to the centre of Brussels. Tec bus line A carries passengers from the airport to the Charleroi Sud railway station which has good connections to the centre of Brussels.

By car

From all directions, reach the East Ring of Brussels, and leave at exit no. 2 (Kraainem/Wezembeek-Oppeem) and follows the signs "UCL- St Luc"

From Brussels downtown, reach the "avenue de Tervueren" to "Woluwe" and follow then the "Boulevard de la Woluwe"; alternatively, use the E-40 highway (direction LIEGE) and leave at exit no. 20 (Woluwe/Kraainem). Follow the signs "UCL- St Luc"

Access to the campus is through the "avenue Mounier" (East Entrance, from the Brussels Ring) or through the "avenue Hippocrate" (West Entrance, from the "Boulevard de la Woluwe". In either case, reach for "Parking Mounier" close to the East entrance.
